Coca-Cola Andina is recognized for the quality of information it delivers to the market

For the third consecutive year Coca-Cola Andina was distinguished by the Informe Reporta Chile, a research on the quality of information that the companies that are part of IPSA (Chile's Blue-Chip Index) put at the disposal of its shareholders and stakeholders during the General Annual Shareholders' Meeting.

The report highlights companies that present the best quality of financial and non-financial information. In the 2018 version that rewards the information presented for the 2017 period, Coca-Cola Andina was Sector Leader, a position held for the third consecutive year. Additionally, it obtained the first place in the Commitment pillar, which recognizes the information related to environmental, social and governance aspects (ESG) for being complete and allowing to know the company's commitment to society and sustainable development. There is a video in the following link that summarizes the main sustainability initiatives that we developed in 2017. (SEE VIDEO)

"A fundamental issue for Coca-Cola Andina is transparency in the delivery of information to the market, we are convinced that this generates value. As a Company we constantly work to implement the best practices, in order to timely deliver Company information on the different areas of interest." Said Miguel Ángel Peirano, Chief Executive Officer of Coca-Cola Andina.

Informe Reporta values the company's effort to communicate beyond mere compliance of legal requirements. The general ranking of Informe Reporta is obtained from scores of the universe of companies analyzed from a total of 36 indicators, grouped in 4 principles: transparency, commitment, relevance and accessibility.
